VEGE COLLAGEN

The world of plants holds a powerful wealth of natural compounds that have an exceptional impact on the appearance and condition of our skin. While nature carefully guards its secrets, we have managed to unlock them — and as a result, we have created the world's first complete and advanced plant-based collagen substitute, composed entirely of 100% plant-derived amino acids, suspended in young coconut water.

This formula contains all the amino acids that make up collagen — including endogenous ones — as well as biologically active hydroxyproline and a rich complex of peptides, including at least two signal peptides, ensuring enhanced collagen production by skin cells.

The formula is enriched with aosain and niacinamide, making it suitable even for demanding and problem-prone skin types.
